

TALON DAVID

Talon David is a recording artist and songwriter based in Nashville, TN. Growing up, she had the hardest time figuring out what to say to people, but she learned early on that when she was singing, she didn't have to struggle so hard, and she could touch people on an emotional level. This opened up a whole new world of communication for her. It was a natural result that Talon would start songwriting, and in 2017 she got to attend the 59th GRAMMY Awards as the winner of the GRAMMY Foundation's Teens Make Music Contest for her song "Deep Snow."

Since then, Talon has continued developing her craft in Belmont University's Commercial Music major. Her influences span from Ella Fitzgerald to Journey to Adele. As she moves forward in her career after graduation, the dream would be to travel the world, singing and encouraging people that they are not alone in their troubles. And no matter the extent of pain, there is always hope.

Talon will be releasing a succession of singles throughout next year, including "Indigo of the Night" which was debuted October 24th. This is an adventure you do not want to miss.

"There is a theatrical air to the soundscape that represents Talon's vivid lyrics."

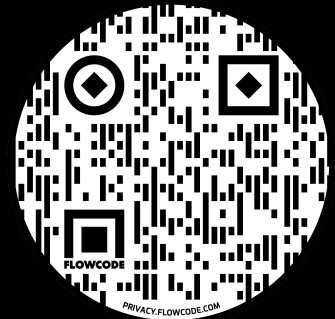

—BUZZMUSIC

"She takes us on that full emotional journey with style, confidence and capability beyond her years."

—The Prog Report
